Fourth Printing of Oppenheim's Masterpiece

THE MISSIONER

By E. Phillips Oppenheim

JUST THREE RECENT OPINIONS

Decidedly the best book yet written by this master of imaginative fiction. The heroine is one of the most original characters who has ever graced a twentieth century novel.—Washington Star.

No man of this generation has so much facility of expression, so many technical resources, or so fine a power of narration as Mr. E. Phillips Oppenheim.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

There is no living writer who has greater art in getting a firm grip on the reader's interest in the first chapter and holding the grip until the end.

—San Francisco Chronicle.

For Two Successive Months one of the Six Best Sellers, according to the Bookman

"THE GREAT JOHN GANTON"

Now playing at the Garrick Theatre, Chicago, is a dramatization of

Arthur J. Eddy's big Chicago story

"GANTON & CO."

The play is having a great success, and Mr. Eddy's wonderful conception of "Old Man Ganton" is likely to become a national figure

By the author of THE CIRCULAR STAIRCASE

ONE of the most attractive and appropriate window displays seen for many a day was that of Johnson's Bookstore in Springfield, Mass., last week, showing the interior of a sleeping car with the upper and lower berths, the lower berth ostensibly being occupied and the curtains partly drawn. The display was a reproduction of the illustration on the front cover of the book, "The Man in Lower Ten," by Marjorie Roberts Rinehart. The uniqueness and originality of the display attracted the attention of thousands, and at times it was almost impossible to pass on the sidewalk.—The American Stationer.

THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY, Publishers

Would an up-to-date selected list of nearly 800 library addresses—everyone of them a bona-fide book buyer all the year round—interest you?

THERE is a constant call for a select list of public and semi-public libraries in the United States and Canada having funds for book buying every year. Less than one-quarter of the total number of libraries are "live" buyers, and the waste in circularizing a general list is a discouragement to many. To meet this demand there has been included in the Annual Library Index, 1908, just published, a special list of the leading public and semi-public libraries in the United States and Canada confined for the most part to those having not less than 10,000 volumes, $2,000 annual income, and $400 annual expenditure for books. This list includes approximately eight hundred libraries, and gives the name and location of the library, the name of the librarian, the number of volumes, the accessions for the past library year, the annual income and the annual book expenditure—the facts which dealers especially need in appealing to libraries. This list is not published separately but is included with the other valuable features of the Annual Library Index.

READY NEXT WEEK

For those readers of fiction who like a good story with meat in it, a story of adventure, danger, and achievement, but who fail to find enjoyment unless they find a pleasing style withal we recommend

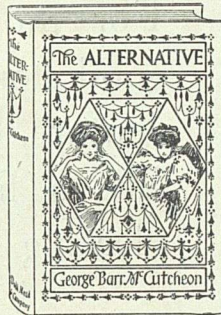

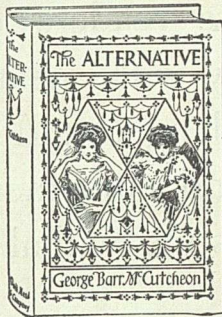

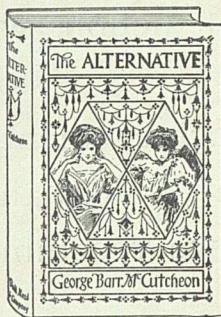

Henry Milner Rideout's DRAGON'S BLOOD

It is a story of China permeated with the atmosphere of the Far East, with its noises and smells and mysticism. The members of the foreign population of the remote coast town, which affords the scene of the story, carry the plot and shoulder the responsibilities which lead to the lively times narrated. Two bosom friends, one a young Englishman and the other a still younger German, share the honors of hero and divide the spoils of love, for this is also a love story, and there are two unusually interesting feminine characters.

CHARLES BELMONT DAVIS'S The Lodger Overhead and Others

Illustrated, $1.50

Mr. Davis tells better stories of New York than any one else and in this new book he deals skilfully with some of the most dramatic and picturesque and hitherto untouched phases of essentially Metropolitan Life. His thorough familiarity with all sides of the life he describes, his fresh and interesting point of view, his attractive sentiment, and the interest of the novel situations and the variety and originality of his characters, make these stories remarkable and absorbing. There are besides some tales of the Southern Springs, full of lazy charm and pleasant sentiment, which open to us a new field of real life and romance to-day.

NOTES IN SEASON.

THE JOHN MCBRIDE COMPANY has just ready "The Gipsy Count," by May Wynne, with cover and frontispiece in colors by E. Fuhr, which the publishers think is the most interesting romance of chivalry since "When Knighthood Was in Flower."

GEORGE W. JACOBS & Co. will publish shortly "Robespierre and the French Revolution," by ex-Mayor Charles F. Warwick, the third volume in his trilogy on the French Revolution, which has been somewhat delayed owing to the illness of the author. The forthcoming volume in the popular Wit and Humor Series is announced as "Wit and Humor of the Stage," of which the selections will be classified under the headings: Stories of the Stars; Stage Mishaps; The Eternal Feminine; In Hard Luck; Jefferson and His Friends, etc.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will publish on April 17 Mrs. Edith Wharton's first volume of collected verse, entitled "Artemis to Actæon." It is a sheaf of fastidious slenderness witnessing her own strict selective judgment, but it will nevertheless come as a surprise, probably, to many of her readers in the completeness with which it indicates her title as a poet. They will publish at the same time a volume of short stories of New York by Charles Belmont Davis, entitled "The Lodger Overheard, and Others;" also, "Epochs in the Life of Paul," by the Rev. Dr. A. T. Robinson, an eloquent and stimulating study of the important phases in the life of St. Paul—orthodox in tone and profoundly scholarly, full of new and interesting suggestions.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. have just ready "Salvator," by Perceval Gibbon, who has made a dramatic tale in which African adventure and romance contrast sharply with English country life. Salvator is an enthusiast who dreams of overthrowing the powers of evil in Mozambique and governing decently that den of iniquities. His fervor of idealistic plan first appeals strongly to the cool-headed English heroine, but the plot brings many complications that lead to a most unforeseen denouement. Later in the month they will issue "The American Flower Garden," by Neltje Blanchan, eagerly expected but necessarily postponed to insure accurate and thorough work; "Fireless Cooking," by Margaret J. Mitchell; "Orchard and Fruit Garden," by E. P. Powell; and new editions of "The Flower Garden;" and "The Vegetable Garden," both by Ida Bennett.

D. APPLETON & Co. have almost ready three new works of fiction: "A Year Out of Life," by Mary E. Waller, author of "The Wood Carver of Lympus," who tells the story of an American girl in Germany to study the language; "A King in Khaki," by Henry Kitchell Webster, who lays his scene on an island in the West Indies near Jamaica; and "Brothers All," a volume which will contain fifteen of the most recent short stories by Maarten Maartens, the Dutch novelist, who writes his books in such excellent English. The house will add to its Scientific Series "The Transformation of the Animal World," by Charles Deperet, Dean of the Faculty of Sciences of the University of Lyons, tracing evolution from the time of Cuvier; also, "Human Speech—its Physical Basis," by N. C. Macnamara, who aims "to explain the nature and action of the living matter of those parts of our bodies by means of which we gain ideas concerning the external world, and are able to express our thoughts in intelligent speech."

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books issued by publishers who protect the prices of their new publications are preceded in this list by the double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. Works of fiction (not net) of which a minimum price is protected by their publishers, are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not protected are preceded by a single asterisk *, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederick; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. (48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., etc., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Altsheler, Jos. Alexander. The recovery: a story of Kentucky. N. Y., Frank F. Lovell Co., [68 Murray St., 1909.] c. '08. 353 p. D. cl., $1.50.

To save a woman from her jealous husband's suspicions the hero pretends to be a burglar and serves three years in the penitentiary. When free he takes two years at the Harvard law school to supplement his knowledge of law, then goes into politics and becomes governor of his state. The secret of his youth is ferreted out by his political enemies and he finally confesses that he has served a sentence. After many complications "the recovery" comes, and the woman for whom he suffered makes amends for his sacrifice.

Ayscough, J., pseud. Dromina. N. Y., Putnam, 1909. c. 7+477 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Under the name of Ludovic, this story has for its hero the young Dauphin of France, the ill-fated son of Louis XVI. He is represented as having joined a band of gypsies and lives as their king. The scene shifts from the south of Ireland to Italy, France, Spain and the West Indies. Upon the crowded canvas of the tale are seen Irish priests and peasants, popes and great ecclesiastical dignitaries and representatives of noble houses of France and Italy.

Barr, Mrs. Amelia Edith Huddleston. The hands of compulsion; frontispiece by Walter Everett. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1909. c. 319 p. D. cl., $1.50.

A story of the Isle of Arran. The handsome, strong-willed daughter of an uncompromising deacon loves a man unworthy of her. She cannot and will not see his faults. His brother also has loved the girl, and from that fact dates the enmity between them that almost leads to murder. When Annie Brodick has almost sacrificed all her friends for her fascinating lover, he shows even her his meanness and lack of conscience. After many days the end is satisfactory.

Batson, Mrs. Stephen. The summer garden of pleasure; with 36 il. in colour by Osmond Pittman. Chic., A. C. McClurg & Co., 1909. 14+231 p. pls. O. cl., $3.50.

A garden in bloom from April to September with no August interregnum is the ideal set forth in Mrs. Batson's beautiful volume. After a chapter on "The wild garden," the flowers are taken up in the order of their flowering and their characteristics and care described. Although her book is, from one standpoint, a practical text-book, it is far more.

Mrs. Batson treats her subject with "an intimate knowledge and delight," which will captivate every reader. By the author of "A handbook of garden flowers."

Beeckman, Ross. Princess Zara; il. by Bert Knight. N. Y., W. J. Watt & Co., [1909.] c. '08. 343 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The Princess is a Russian nihilist controlling a group that is meditating the assassination of the czar, Alexander. Princess Zara is first met in New York at one of the best hotels with a retinue of servants. She is visited there by a friend of the czar, who warns her of what the result will be if she carries out her plans. She returns to Russia and her plotting, and there is a long series of dramatic episodes, in which an English detective who has the czar's confidence figures.

Geoffroy Tory was born at Bourges in the capital of Berry about 1480. He became painter and engraver, first royal painter, reformer of orthography and typography under François I. This book was first published about 40 years ago. It is now brought out with illustrations gotten up with the most advanced methods of reproduction. The book is divided into three parts: biography, bibliography and iconography. The iconography did not appear in the first edition. Made at the Riverside Press the volume is produced as much like a Tory book as perfect mechanism can make it.

Bisseker, H. Problems of discipleship. N. Y., Eaton & Mains, [1909.] 171 p. D. cl., *50 c. net.

Author is attached to the Methodist Leysian Mission, London. The problems discussed are as follows: The problem of temptations; of the besetting sin; on the sense of unreality in prayer; on certain answers to prayer; wilful sin: can it have forgiveness; of suffering; of merited suffering; the place of feelings in the religious life; on the value of sermons; on reading the Bible.

- Burns, Robert. The Geddes Burns. Bost., Bibliophile Society, 1908, [1909.] various paging, por. facsim., 8°. (Add. Society for price.)
473 copies printed for members only. Facsimile of a copy of the first edition of Burns' poems, containing twenty-seven closely written pages in the handwriting of the poet, besides his original letter to the owner of the book, the Rev. Dr. Alexander Geddes, afterwards Bishop Geddes. The "Introductory" encloses a concise history of the volume by one of the former owners, Mr. James Black in Detroit, up to the time it came into his possession. Coat of arms of Bishop Geddes reproduced in facsimile on the inside of the cover. A portrait, not in the original, is inserted loose. Original title-page: Poems, chiefly in the Scottish dialect. By Robert Burns. Edinburgh, Printed for the author, and sold by William Creech, 1787.
- Calvert, Albert F.: Madrid: an historical description and handbook of the Spanish capital; with 453 illustrations. N. Y., John Lane Co., (The Bodley Head,) 1909. 27+169 p. pls. D. (Spanish ser.) cl., *$1.50 net.
The book offers 450 illustrations and, besides a full account of the history and art of the Spanish metropolis, contains chapters on Spanish literature and drama, the bull fight and the café life. An interesting series of the illustrations shows the art of bull fighting. Mr. Calvert writes from the standpoint of a resident addressing visitors to the city. The Spanish metropolis is modern, he says; it is imbued with the principles of modern progress; and while one never ceases to rejoice in the unflinching unchanged adherence to an immortal past characteristic of Toledo one may equally appreciate the spirit of new Spain found in Madrid.
- Calvert, Albert F., and Hartley, C. Gasquoine. El Greco: an account of his life and works; with 136 reproductions from his most celebrated pictures. N. Y., John Lane Co., (The Bodley Head,) 1909. 12+188 p. pls. D. (Spanish ser.) cl., *$1.50 net.
El Greco is now placed on nearly as high a pinnacle of worship as Velasquez. With this the author does not agree, although he concedes he was the inspirer of Velasquez. He opens the history of Spanish painting and his work challenges the world's masters. Greco was born between 1545 and 1550. He died in 1614. He was the first to understand the effect that one color has in changing the tone of another color. Reproductions of 136 of his works.
- Canfield, W. W., and Clark, J. E. Things worth knowing about Oneida County, [New York.] Utica, N. Y., Thomas J. Griffiths, cor. Liberty and Hotel Sts., 1909. c. 148 p. pls. O. cl., *$1 net.
Authors seek to present compactly and entertainingly many prominent historical facts now buried in ponderous and expensive volumes.
- Carpenter, G. Rice. Walt Whitman. N. Y., Macmillan, 1909. c. 5+175 p. D. (English men of letters ser.; ed. by J. Morley.) cl., 75 c. net.
The author (professor in Columbia University) is a thorough believer in Whitman's genius and his title to fame, but he is able to estimate impartially the value of the various criticisms directed against the poet. He has written a well-balanced biography to which even the most enthusiastic "worshippers" of Whitman must give attention. He specially studies the attitude of Whitman in his poems dealing with the subject of the relations of men and women, and speaks candidly of Whitman's private life and his views of some phases of life not generally openly discussed.
- Carter, C. F.: When railroads were new; with introductory note by Logan G. McPherson. N. Y., Henry Holt & Co., 1909. c. 14+324 p. pls. O. cl., $2 net.
The struggles of the men who built the first railroads were as those of Titans, and it is this almost forgotten human element which is here brought to light. The excitement over the first locomotives, the enthusiasm at the completion of the first railway, and the very menu of one of the banquets celebrating the event are set forth, and bring a realization of what the railroads meant to the dauntless pioneers.
- Caruthers, W. A. The knights of the horse-shoe: a traditionary tale of the cocked hat gentry in the old dominion; with 4 il. by J. Watson Davis. N. Y., A. L. Burt Co., 1909. 433 p. 12°, (Standard fiction.) cl., $1.
- Channing, E., and Lansing, Marion Florence. The story of the Great Lakes; with maps and illustrations. N. Y., Macmillan, 1909. c. 9+398 p. pls. D. cl., $1.50 net.
The first author is professor of history in Harvard University; the second is editor of the Open road library. A century ago a few small villages and trading stations, flung into the heart of a wilderness still populated by Indians, were scattered along the shores of the Great Lakes. To-day these inland seas are described as "the keystone of American industry" and "the clearing-house of the commerce of the central plain of North America." For the mastery of these lakes three civilized nations have fought with one another and with the red men. The authors have attempted no exhaustive chronicle, but have presented the important events, with emphasis upon the personal side of the history, upon the individuals who made it, the conditions of their lives, and the romance of their adventures.
- Cholmondeley, Mary. The hand on the latch. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., [1909.] c. '03, '07, '08. 19+25-127 p. front. D. cl., +$1.25.
Four short stories by the author of "Red potage," "Prisoners," etc.: The hand on the latch; The lowest rung; The understudy; Saint Luke's summer. The stories all deal with women.
- Cicero, Marcus Tullius. Six orations of Cicero (Allen and Greenough's edition); rev. by Ja. B. Greenough and G. L. Kittredge, with a special vocabulary by Ja. B. Greenough. Bost., Ginn, [1909.] c. 260+226 p. il. pls. maps, fold. plan, D. hf. leath., $1.
This edition has been prepared to meet the needs of those teachers who prefer marked quantities and who require but six orations for use in their classes. It comprises the Four orations against Catiline, the Manilian Law, and the Oration for Archias, which are taken with annotations from the revised Allen and Greenough's edition of "Cicero's select orations," arranged in chronological order.
- Conant, C. Arthur. A history of modern banks of issue; with an account of the economic crises of the nineteenth century and the crisis of 1907. 4th ed., rev. and enl. N. Y., Putnam, 1909. c. '96, '08. 11+751 p. O. cl., $3.50 net.
Since the first edition of this work was published, in 1896, important events have taken place both in banking and political history. The note-issuing systems of Switzerland, Sweden and Mexico have been completely reconstructed, and important changes have been made in Russia, Austria-Hungary, Japan and other countries. In this new edition, not only have such events been brought down to date, but more attention has been given than in the first edition to several phases of banking development, notably on the side of discount policy and on that of the division of profits between the bank and the state.

Cooley, C. Horton. Social organization: a study of the larger mind. N. Y., Scribner, 1909. c. 17+426 p. O. cl., $1.50 net.

Mr. Cooley is professor of sociology in the University of Michigan, and author of "Human nature and the social order." A study of the development and influence of the various forms of intercourse among men discussed under such headings as Communication, The democratic mind, Social classes, Public will, Institutions, etc., and treated from the mental rather than material point of view.

Craig, R. S. The making of Carlyle. N. Y., John Lane Co., (The Bodley Head,) 1909. 6+519 p. por. O. cl., *$4 net.

The outcome of a life in close study of and deep sympathy with Carlyle and his teaching. The period treated is that of the formative years when his character was building. The Scottish rural life into which Carlyle was born, the educative influences that gathered round that life, and the university to which he passed are all carefully studied. The author strives especially to fill up the gap where Froude showed himself least in sympathy with Carlyle. The writer gets behind the old-age scoffing manner of Carlyle and strives to restore Carlyle to the affections of his countrymen.

Cram, Rev. Jacob. Journal of a missionary tour through the new settlements of northern New Hampshire and Vermont; from the original manuscript of Rev. Jacob Cram. Rochester, N. Y., George P. Humphrey, 65 Spring St., 1909. 8°, bds., $1.50.

Daly, T. Augustine. Carmina. N. Y., John Lane Co., (The Bodley Head,) 1909. c. '06, '07, '08. 11+193 p. D. cl., $1.50 net.

A book of verse by the author of "Canzoni," already in its sixth edition since it appeared in 1906. Most of the poems have been printed in the Catholic Standard and Times and have been quoted in various periodicals. There are seventy-eight titles, about equally divided between Italian, Irish and American verse, ten of which are reprints from the former volume "Canzoni." The twelve poems for the months of the years are specially happy and musical.

Davis, Norah. Wallace Rhodes: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1909. c. 335 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

The woman of the story, Veronica Bowdre, is loved both by father and son—this is the unconventional and rather startling plot; but the story is wholly free from all questionable incidents or suggestion. Wallace Rhodes and his son had always been chums, sharing each others sports and recreations, and seemingly not far apart in age. Veronica has a beautiful personality and the reputation of being a flirt. The son first falls in love with her, and in the father's attempt to prevent the marriage he falls in love with her himself. The incidents that result are dramatic.

Delany, Selden Peabody. The ideal of Christian worship. Milwaukee, Wis., Young Churchman Co., 1909. c. 63 p. S. cl., *50 c. net.

Author is dean of All Saints' Cathedral, Milwaukee. Contents: The reason for Christian worship; The chief act of Christian worship; The holy eucharist, or, morning prayer; How to take part in eucharistic worship; The ceremonial of eucharistic worship.

De Quincy, T. The confessions of an English opium-eater. N. Y., Putnam, 1908, [1909.] front. 32°, (Ariel booklets.) leath., 75 c., boxed.

Doctor (The) says: a book of advice for the household, with practical hints for the preservation of health and the prevention of disease. Phil., George W. Jacobs & Co., [1909.] c. 342 p. O. cl., $1 net.

Intended especially for households in remote country districts where medical aid is not always accessible. The author, a reputable physician, has endeavored to make a popular text-book of medicine, as well as a work of reference—a book which, while it can in no way take the place of personal advice, will supply such detailed information that should the reader be far away from the doctor he may still be able to discover the cause of his illness and to select an efficient remedy.

Douthit, Jasper L. Jasper Douthit's story. Bost., American Unitarian Association, 1909. D. cl., *$1.25 net.

Jasper Douthit was born October 10, 1834, near Shelbyville, Ill. Unitarianism was never put to a severer test than when he sought with it to ameliorate the severities and remove the illiteracy and iniquities of southern Illinois in the sixties and seventies. He was a rustic Channing of the prairies; a Theodore Parker of the log house.

A popular yet strictly scientific exposition of the basis of mental control, and how perfect balance may be attained, by the famous neurologist of the University of Berne. His former books, "The psychic treatment of nervous disorders" and "The influence of the mind on the body," are in use as text-books by teachers of the "Emmanuel movement." Dr. Dubois presents a phase of the subject of mental therapeutics in which there is such widespread and spreading interest with the force, quiet and candor that come of wide experience in a specialty.

The book is strictly up to date, including subjects which have of late come to the front. The special value of the book rests in its illustrations and practical working diagrams.

Elliott, Mrs. Grace Dalrymple. In the shadow of the guillotine; written by Grace Dalrymple Elliott, intimate friend of Philippe Egalité; ed. by Helen Kendrick Hayes. Bost., Dana Estes & Co., [1909.] 15+194 p. por. D. cl., 75 c.

These memoirs, written by an Englishwoman resident in France, present a most intimate view of the horrors of the French Revolution. Mrs. Elliott gives at close range and at first hand a clear portrait of Philippe Egalité—Duc d'Orléans—first at the beginning of the Revolution and then after he fell into the clutches of the arch-conspirators.

Elson, Rob. The magnate. N. Y., Brentano's, 1909. 369 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

The heroine has lived as lady's help and mothers' help, slaving for English and Scotch second-rate family mothers, always obliged to leave her situations because the fathers or sons made it unpleasant for her. The magnate is attracted by her and offers her marriage. She has no faith in men, but consents to be his wife if he will agree to live as comrades. She finds herself wealthy, able to have everything she fancies. People tell her her husband is the richest man in the world. The magnate, a noble, generous fellow, sticks to his promise to his wife. In the end she learns to appreciate her great good fortune. The scenes among the rich in many parts of the world give a picture of modern extravagance and woman's rule.

Mrs. Harland wrote the concluding chapters of this book after the death of her husband, the author of "The cardinal's snuff-box," etc. A very rich American girl is introduced travelling with friends in Venice and the Val d'Arno. Many suitors long for the hand of this original, independent girl. The scene shifts to a colonial mansion in New England, and the life and nature of man in the old and the new world are cleverly contrasted. The girl remains true to the love she confessed early in the story under the sunny skies of Italy.

Herbert, Alice. The measure of our youth. N. Y., John Lane Co., (The Bodley Head,) 1909. 314 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The hero is a young Englishman made up of equal parts of good and evil. His contradictory traits are the result of his inheritance. His grandfather, an officer in the British army in India, had been forced when quite young to marry a beautiful half-caste of Calcutta; the couple had one son, who was sent to England to be educated. He in turn marries, and is the father of the hero. This hero, always wishing to do right, is too impressionable to woman's influence. After a number of experiences he marries a woman who gives him balance.

Although written in 1670, these memoirs were not published until the nineteenth century and are now modernized for the greater convenience of the reader and the student of the stirring times of the great civil war which devastated the English nation during the reign of Charles I. A keen historical interest attaches to the work, since it is the true account of an eyewitness of the important events of that period.

Irwin, Grace Luce, [Mrs. Wallace Irwin.] The diary of a show-girl; il. by Wallace Morgan. N. Y., Moffat, Yard & Co., 1909. c. 10+177 p. D. cl., $1.

A young girl from the West comes to New York in search of work. At first she enters a department store, and almost starves on her small salary. She then applies at a theatre for a position in the chorus. She is pretty, dances well and has a pleasant voice, and soon rises to fame and fortune. She has many admirers, but is an honorable girl, retains her good name, and marries well. The story is told in the jargon of the stage and is often very witty.

The author of these clever epigrams is editor of the woman's page of the Chicago Record Herald, in which many of the little squibs have appeared. The artist who has made the little colored pictures which are "peaches" is well known in the art world. The book is specially fitted for souvenir purposes.

Johnson, Helen Kendrick, [Mrs. Rossiter Johnson.] Woman and the Republic: a survey of the woman-suffrage movement in the United States and a discussion of the claims and arguments of its foremost advocates. New and enl. ed., with an index. N. Y., National League for the Civic Education of Women, 1909. c. '97. 359+5 p. D. pap., 35 c.

Book was first published by D. Appleton & Co. in 1897 as a reply to Dr. Mary Putnam Jacobi's "Common sense applied to woman suffrage" and "The history of woman suffrage," by Elizabeth Cady Stanton. Mrs. Johnson holds the view that woman through her sex is incapacitated for political life; that the suffrage would tend to disintegrate the home; that woman would lack the physical power to defend a vote, or to carry out the laws she might enact. A concise temperate argument against woman suffrage, very timely once more after a decade of discussion.

Novikoff, Mme. Olga. The M. P. for Russia: reminiscences and correspondence of Madame Olga Novikoff; ed. by W. T. Stead. N. Y., Putnam, 1909. 2 v., 16+536; 8+531 p. pors. O. cl., *$7.50 net, boxed.

In the eighties Madame Novikoff was known among a distinguished circle of statesmen, men of letters, and others as a very fascinating woman, who had maintained a brilliant salon at Claridge's Hotel. It was also known that she was engaged in a political propaganda which had for its object the bringing together of England and Russia in an understanding which would enable the two countries to unite in freeing the Balkan states from the yoke of the Turk. In these two volumes is disclosed in particular the part that Madame Novikoff played in the Anglo-Russian understanding which is to-day an accomplished fact, and, in a general way, the part she played in the social life of London. The volumes contain hundreds of new letters from Gladstone, Froude, Tyndall, and other famous men.

O'Brien, Sara R. English for foreigners. Bost., Houghton Mifflin Co., [1909.] 9+158 p. il. map, D. cl., 50 c.

Author is teacher in the day and evening schools of Springfield, Mass. She has met with remarkable success in teaching foreigners to speak, read and write the English language. The book is the direct outgrowth of her teaching, and its contents have been practically tested in the schoolroom. In addition to giving foreigners a practical working knowledge of English, it will serve as a first text in writing, arithmetic, personal hygiene, and in American geography, ways of life, occupations, business forms, and citizenship.

Osgood, Irene. Servitude. Bost., Dana Estes & Co., [1909.] c. '08. 421 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The hero is William Brown, an English naval lieutenant on secret service, who is captured by an Algerian pirate ship and sold into slavery in the expectation of a handsome ransom. His love for a Virginia girl alone sustains him through all the horror and degradation of awful days. The capture of Miss Betty, her brief experience in the Dey's harem, her rescue—made possible through Brown's heroism—by a detail from Commodore Decatur's

"Guerrière," are thrilling incidents in a story which ends with Brown's escape and the bombardment of Algiers by the British squadron under Lord Exmouth.

Osgood, Irene. To a nun confess'd: letters from Yolande to Sister Mary. Bost., Dana Estes & Co., [1909.] 240 p. D. cl., $1.50.

A series of letters claiming to have been written by an American woman, the unhappy wife of a self-centred Englishman, to her most intimate woman friend—a nun. The letters are said to have been found in one of the French convents, from which the owners were forced by the French government some time ago. Here is a woman's soul laid bare; a self-analysis by the victim of a hopeless love.

The Hidatsa Indians are one of the three tribes which at present inhabit northwestern Dakota and eastern Montana and hunt on the waters of the Upper Missouri and Yellowstone rivers. They are officially known as Gros Ventres. The authors have made a careful study of their religion and myths. The shrine of worship is described and the various holy objects needed in the rites and ceremonies. Many of the customs are explained in the words of the Indian chiefs, from whom the writers gained much ethnological information.

Author is rector of St. John's Church, Northampton, Mass., author of "Christian Science: the faith and its founder" and "The art of natural sleep." The present work is the third in the trilogy, and has a double appeal—to the general public, who desire an untechnical work on the subject, and to the clergyman, or other person, who wishes to help the sick in accordance with the Emmanuel precedents. Of this Movement, the author speaks as "a turning toward the healing Christ without turning either from historic Christianity or from scientific medicine." He gives his own experience in "Christian healing" and the history of many cases which have come under his knowledge.

Doctors all warn against over-eating of meat. Many home providers know little of the possibilities of vegetables to thoroughly satisfy and nourish if scientifically chosen and cooked with technical skill. This book is to supply such information. The book does not insist upon a strictly vegetable diet, but shows the acceptable meat substitutes and their artistic and hygienic accompaniments. Mrs. Rorer divides vegetables into four groups: the muscle-making; the heat and energy producers; the fatty group (nuts and olives); the cleansers (green vegetables, largely water), and then gives recipes for their combination.

The hero, an American engineer, goes to Ceylon to develop a plant bought by an American millionaire. He first meets the English heroine lying on the ground studying a knotty problem about dynamos from a book. She proves well equipped in brains and courage and becomes a helpful comrade in his life work. Her father had unwittingly sold his land to a speculator and her aim was to discover a means to regain it by furnishing an invention by which fabulous riches might be acquired. The hero is a companion to the old popular "lightning conductor," only he now employs his lightnings in arc lights and machinery.

Origin of the language dates back to the fur drogners of the last century. The origin and derivation of every word treated is given and every authoritative reference is given. A valuable feature is the index to useful words in the main vocabulary; also the supplemental vocabulary of about 200 uncommon words not included in main vocabulary. Chinook has become really an international speech widely diffused among the fifty tribes of Oregon, Washington, British Columbia and Alaska of great service to science, to missionary efforts and to travellers. It presents one of the most curious specimens of mixed language known to philologists.

A reprinted edition of a book published in 1871 by J. E. A. Smith, then known as the historian of Berkshire. In tale and tradition, not inconsistent with the most accurate history, but still retaining the glamour of the old times, he clothed every scene anew and in the description of the country, with its inexhaustible variety, his aim was in all cases, without affecting any pre-Raphaelite precision, to paint a faithful likeness. The book will especially appeal to the many summer visitors in that region.

Cyrus Hall McCormick, a Scotch-Irish man, was born February 15, 1809. He ranks in history as the leader who showed how peacefully to conquer the vast prairies of the American West, to uplift its farming class, and, by cheapening the bread of the toiling millions, to open to them the possibilities of a higher life. When but 22 years of age he constructed a reaping machine to conquer the great practical difficulties of mechanical reaping. All successful reapers have since been made in conformity with his type of reaper.

Yorke, Curtis, [pseud. for Mrs. Susan Richmond Lee.] Only Betty; with coloured frontispiece by E. F. Sherie. [Bost., Dana Estes & Co., 1909.] 318 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The story of an attractive, lovable, well-educated young English girl, whose father's death makes it necessary for her to seek a situation. She finally obtains one in a quaint coast village in Wales, to take charge of a little girl for three months, while the child's parents are on the continent. Betty had been wishing to learn something of life, and at once her adventures begin. Not only is the little girl a strange mixture of impishness and charm and a great trial, but two men fall in love with Betty, and much has to be told before the end.

Yorke, Curtis, [pseud. for Mrs. Susan Richmond Lee.] The world and Delia. [Bost., Dana Estes & Co., 1909.] 318 p. D. cl., $1.50.

A young girl, knowing little of the world, allows herself to be married to a man, a widower with four children, who is in every way a desirable match, but twice her age. She has welcomed the change as a deliverance from the more than narrow confines of the home she had found with two very elderly and exceedingly prudish aunts. She had married without love, but with liking and respect for her husband. Both experience many trials before they discover they sincerely love each other.

THE TARIFF BILL AND THE BOOK-TRADE.

THE Tariff Bill as reported from the Ways and Means Committee affects the booktrade less than might have been expected. The duty on books remains at 25 per cent. and the duty on children's books printed by lithographic process at 8 c. per pound. The booktrade is not to any extent affected by the freeing of wood pulp and the reduction of duty on the lower grades of wood pulp papers, for these changes are confined to papers suitable only for newspapers, in response to the demand from the daily press, and do not cover or affect papers good enough to be used in the manufacture of books, or even in weekly and monthly periodicals. As to changes in the materials used in the manufacture of books, either there are none or they are not substantial. The most important perhaps is that—in the general reduction of the leather schedule following the freeing of hides from duty—book leathers are reduced 5 per cent. (from 10 to 5 per cent. ad valorem;) but of course the effect of this is confined chiefly to the binding of individual volumes, outside of law books and the few general books in leather-bound editions.

It will be recalled that the United Typothetae in an argument before the Ways and Means Committee put forward an absurd suggestion that the duty on books should be increased to 75 per cent. This was quite wisely ignored by the Ways and Means Committee. On the other hand, it has been understood that in the Senate, where the real fight on tariff revision will be, and where the form of the new tariff may be substantially decided, there has been some tendency to put books on the free list without providing for a reduction on the materials of book manufacture. As it is, books over twenty years old, as well as books in foreign languages, remain on the free list, and the duty is confined to English books of current or recent production. Under the new bill works of art more than twenty years old are also to be placed on the free list. The argument for "free art" is sometimes mistakenly understood to extend to "free books." The reason that there is no valid argument, except precedent or revenue, against "free art," is that the materials of a picture or other work of art cost so little as to be absolutely negligible, and the only producers, the artists, are the chief advocates of free art. On the other hand, the materials of book manufacture are substantially, and, indeed, excessively taxed, and to free books from duty without freeing or reducing the materials of book manufacture would be unsound economics and topsy-turvy policy.

It has been suggested that the requirement in the copyright law that books should be manufactured in this country to secure copyright, would confine the importation of free books to non-copyright books. It has been held throughout the copyright discussion by all upholding the principle of copyright that tariff protection has no place in a copyright act, but the effect of the tariff change indicated would have a boomerang effect on copyright. If an English publisher could send into this market large editions of a new popular book without payment of duty, while the American publisher would be handicapped with the higher costs incident to the present tariff, the English author and publisher might agree to refrain from copyrighting such books and control the market by virtue of the conflicting provisions of the copyright and the tariff acts, thus combined against the American publisher. This argument has not been without its effect, and it is now improbable that any such change will receive important support in the Senate.

Thus houses in the trade whose business is chiefly importation would of course be glad to see a reduction or abolition of the duty on books, and this is especially true as to the children's books printed by lithographic process now under specific duty of 8 c. per pound. The duty has been almost prohibitive of the importation of the products of certain foreign publishers and has added substantially to the price of this kind of literature. This specific duty is understood to be equivalent roughly to about thirty per cent. ad valorem on lithograph children's books, and could probably be reduced to good purpose, were it not for the endeavor of the lithographers to maintain or increase tariff duties on lithographic material. The lithographers and the post-card manufacturers together have been successful in obtaining from the Committee on Ways and Means the enormous increase on the duty of post-cards, which was raised from twenty-five per cent. to five cents per pound and forty-five per cent. ad valorem.

The passage of the current bill in the House in substantially its present shape is practically assured, and interest will presently centre in the contest in the Senate, where amendments will be more freely offered and discussed, and where what may prove practically a substitute bill may be adopted with the result that, as in many cases before, the fate of this important measure in general and detail will be determined through legislation in Conference Committee.

BOOKS AND BOOK MATERIALS IN THE PAYNE TARIFF BILL.

THE following items relating to books and book materials are taken from the Bill [H. R. 1438] "to provide revenue, equalize duties and encourage the industries of the United States," introduced on March 17, in the House of Representatives, by Mr. Payne and committed on the following day to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union:

FREE.

506. Books, engravings, photographs, etchings, bound or unbound, maps and charts imported by authority or for the use of the United States or for the use of the Library of Congress.

507. Books, maps, music, engravings, photographs, etchings, bound or unbound, and charts, which shall have been printed more than twenty years at the date of importation, and all hydrographic charts, and publications issued for their subscribers or exchanges by scientific and literary associations or academies, or publications of individuals for gratuitous private circulation, and public documents issued by foreign governments.

508. Books and pamphlets printed exclusively in languages other than English; also books and music, in raised print, used exclusively by the blind.

509. Books, maps, (music, photographs, etchings, lithographic prints, and charts, specially imported, not more than two copies in any one invoice, in good faith, for the use and by order of any society or institution incorporated or established solely for religious, philosophical, educational, scientific, or literary purposes, or for the encouragement of the fine arts, or for the use and by order of any college, academy, school, or seminary of learning in the United States, or any state or public library, and not for sale, subject to such regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury shall prescribe.

510. Books, libraries, usual and reasonable furniture, and similar household effects of persons or families from foreign countries, all the foregoing if actually used abroad by them not less than one year, and not intended for any other person or persons, nor for sale.

612. Lithographic stones, not engraved.

620. Manuscripts.

641. Paper stock, crude, of every description, including all grasses, fibers, rags (other than wool), waste, including jute waste, shavings, clippings, old paper, rope ends, waste rope, and waste bagging, including old gunny cloth and old gunny bags, fit only to be converted into paper.

653. Professional books, implements, instruments, and tools of trade, occupation, or employment, in the actual possession at the time of arrival, of persons emigrating to the United States; but this exemption shall not be construed to include machinery or other articles imported for use in any manufacturing establishment, or for any other person or persons, or for sale, nor shall it be construed to include theatrical scenery, properties, and apparel; but such articles brought by proprietors or managers of theatrical exhibitions arriving from abroad, for temporary use by them in such exhibitions, and not for any other person, and not for sale, and which have been used by them abroad, shall be admitted free of duty under such regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe; but bonds shall be given for the payment to the United States of such duties as may be imposed by law upon any and all such articles as shall not be exported within six months after such importation: Provided, That the Secretary of the Treasury may, in his discretion, extend such period for a further term of six months in case application shall be made therefor.

672. Skins of all kinds, raw (except sheepskins with the wool on), and hides not specially provided for in sections one or two of this Act

708. Wood: Logs and round unmanufactured timber, including pulp woods, firewood, handle bolts, shingle bolts, gun blocks for gunstocks rough hewn or sawed or planed on one side, hop poles, ship timber and ship planking; all the foregoing not specially provided for in sections one or two of this Act.

709. Works of art, drawings, engravings, photographic pictures, and philosophical and scientific apparatus brought by professional artists, lecturers, or scientists arriving from abroad for use by them temporarily for exhibition and in illustration, promotion, and encouragement of art, science, or industry in the United States, and not for sale, shall be admitted free of duty, under such regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury shall prescribe; but bonds shall be given for the payment to the United States of such duties as may be imposed by law upon any and all such articles as shall not be exported within six months after such importation: Provided, That the Secretary of the Treasury may, in his discretion, extend such period for a further term of six months in cases where application therefor shall be made.

710. Works of art, collections in illustration of the progress of the arts, sciences, or manufactures, photographs, works in terra cotta, parian, pottery, or porcelain, antiquities and artistic copies thereof in metal or other material, imported in good faith for exhibition at a fixed place by any State, or by any society or institution established for the encouragement of the arts, science, or education, or for a municipal corporation, and all like articles imported in good faith by any society or association, or for a municipal corporation for the purpose of erecting a public monument, and not intended for sale, nor for any other purpose than herein expressed; but bonds shall be given under such rules and regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe, for the payment of lawful duties which may accrue should any of the articles aforesaid be sold, transferred, or used contrary to this provision, and such articles shall be subject, at any time, to examination and inspection by the proper officers of the customs: Provided, That the privileges of this and the preceding section shall not be allowed to associations or corporations engaged in or connected with business of a private or commercial character.

711. Works of art, the production of American artists residing temporarily abroad, or other works of art, including pictorial paintings on glass, imported expressly for presentation to a national [or other public] institution; . . . but such exemption shall be subject to such regulation as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe.

TARIFF DEMANDED ON LITHOGRAPHED MATERIAL.

Two interesting briefs have been filed with the Ways and Means Committee of Congress, (1) asking that postcards receive a specific classification and that the rates of duty be imposed upon the importation of foreign postcards so as to enable the manufacturers of the United States to compete on an equal basis with the European printers, and (2) asking for a reduction in the tariff on lithograph goods.

The first petition referred to above was filed by the Postcard Manufacturers and Allied Trades' Protective Association of the United States. The duties asked for by this association are as follows:

Postcards, whether in sheets or cut, and whether printed on both sides or not; lithographic where the majority of colors are printed from stone, zinc, aluminum or other material, 35 cents per pound.

If printed by the three or four color plate process showing the use of the screen, 50 per cent. ad valorem.

If hand painted, 100 per cent. ad valorem.

If made by the photogelatine process, or if printed from glass plates or gelatine, 75 per cent. ad valorem.

If colored by air brush process, embossed or plain, 100 per cent. ad valorem.

If made by photogelatine process and hand colored, 100 per cent. ad valorem.

If decorated or covered wholly or in part with feathers, hair, cotton, tinsel, plush, silk, metal, or metal products, or any other material whatsoever, 100 per cent. ad valorem.

All other cards not hereinbefore specifically enumerated, 150 per cent. ad valorem.

The second petition, subscribed to by E. P. Dutton & Co., Raphael Tuck & Sons Co., the International Art Co., W. Hagelberg & Co., the Art Lithograph Publishing Company and others, says in part: "Only high-class work involving considerable artistic originality of a kind not freely produced in this country is imported at all. When this higher class work proves successful on the American market and promises a long run, it is in almost every instance pirated by the American producers, sometimes by several of them at once, and sold at a price less than the importers can possibly market it for, and often at considerably less than the cost of its actual production in Germany. This is the most conclusive evidence in support of the proposition that, when the element of artistic invention is eliminated, the technical work of producing stones and striking prints can be carried on more cheaply in this country than in Germany, irrespective of the tariff schedules.

"A number of exhibits have already been submitted to this committee in proof and il-illustration of these facts. Of these the postal card marked 'A' was made for E. P. Dutton & Co. in Germany. Its cost at the factory in Germany was $5 per thousand. The cost landed in the United States was $5.74 per thousand. The lowest wholesale price at which the cards could be sold in the United States with a reasonable profit was $8 per thousand.

"Postal card 'B,' an exact copy of card 'A,' was pirated by the American manufacturers from card 'A' and sold in the United States freely at the wholesale price of $3.50 per thousand. . . .

"These instances are not exceptional, but are typical of the normal course of events. We hold in our possession scores of pirated cards bearing various types of lithography, but feel it unnecessary to duplicate the evidence before the committee.

"Book 'A' of the exhibits was a German lithographic book made for E. P. Dutton & Co. As it left the factory in Germany it cost 10½ cents. A duty of 25 per cent., amounting to 2½ cents, transportation charges amounting to ⅞ cents, made the total cost of placing the book on the American market 14 cents. The lowest wholesale price at which it could be sold with a reasonable profit was 22½ cents. This book was one of a series manufactured in Germany for E. P. Dutton & Co. Eighteen books of this series were pirated by the American manufacturers and exactly reproduced by the three color printing processes, millions of copies being sold on the American market at the wholesale price of 6 cents apiece.

"Book 'B' is a sample of these imitations. It is an exact copy of Book 'A.' It was made in America and sold freely at the wholesale price of 6 cents.

"This example of imitation in three color printing is introduced to show the real enemy of American lithography. The fact that the total product of the American lithographers has not increased as rapidly of late as in former years is due to the enormous inroads of three and four color printing, which in other parts of the world has actually cut down the total lithographic product.

"Book 'C' is an American lithographic book composed of various pages copied exactly, a page apiece, from the various books in the above mentioned series of German books. It was sold on the American market wholesale for 6 cents a copy.

"Book 'D' is a toy book made in Germany for Raphael Tuck & Sons. The cost at the factory in Germany per thousand was $37.20. The duty amounted per thousand to $16.80, making the total cost landed in America, without considering transportation charges, of $54. Raphael Tuck & Sons hold an estimate by the J. Ottman Lithograph Co. for the reproduction of this same book in America for $37.22 per thousand, delivered at Tuck & Sons' warehouse."

"As in the case of the postal cards, so in the case of books, ceramic decalcomanias and larger lithographs, the instances of copying are not peculiar but are typical of the normal course of business," further states the brief.

EDWARD P. JUDD CO.'S FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY.

THE EDWARD P. JUDD Co., of New Haven, Conn., opened their establishment at 146 Chapel Street, on April 13, 1859, under the firm name of E. P. & R. J. Judd, Jr. That partnership was dissolved in March, 1861, R. J. Judd, Jr., retiring. The senior partner then received James Monroe Clark into partnership and the connection so formed continued for three years, when Mr. Clark sold his interest to William W. White, for many years connected with the old-established firm of Durrie & Peck. Mr. White retired in August, 1877, and the business was then conducted for seventeen years by Edward P. Judd alone. Subsequently the business then became a joint stock corporation under the title of the Edward P. Judd Co., formed under the laws of the State of Connecticut, the incorporators and stock holders being Edward P. Judd, his children, and one employee of long-continued service.

Since the business was established, fifty years ago, it has been greatly extended and enlarged, and now includes a wholesale department of stationery and post-cards imported direct, and a circulating library of over four thousand volumes.

We feel assured that his many friends in the trade will join us in congratulations to Mr. Judd and his associates.

TÖNNIES FIFTY YEARS A BOOK-SELLER.

AUGUST G. TÖNNIES, manager of the Eden Publishing House of St. Louis, Mo., celebrated his golden jubilee as a bookseller on March 27. Mr. Tönnies was born in Welsede, Hanover, January 13, 1844. His parents were Christian Tönnies, forester, and Susanna, born Horenkohl, both from Duingen, Hanover. In December, 1850, the father was transferred to Helfern, near Dissen, where the boy August received a good education. In September, 1858, he came to this country and settled in St. Louis, where on March 27, 1859, he obtained a position in the bookstore of John W. McIntyre, at No. 14 S. Broadway, then Fifth Street. In 1875 he opened up a book business of his own at Fourteenth and Clinton Streets, which he kept up until 1890, when he was appointed manager of the publishing department of the German Evangelical Synod, now Eden Publishing House, at 1716 Chouteau Avenue.

THE MENACE OF CHEAP EDITIONS TO ENGLISH WRITERS.

RIDER HAGGARD at the annual meeting of the Incorporated Society of Authors recently talked on a subject which is interesting literary men in England greatly, namely, the vogue of the twelve- and fourteen-cent novel.

Mr. Haggard said that unless these cheap editions of books could be stopped the six-shilling novel would be practically killed. No one could earn a living by publishing books at fourteen cents. If when a six-shilling novel was published it was known that shortly after a fourteen-cent edition would follow the more expensive book would not be bought.

There was much discussion on the subject by all the authors present, among whom were Anthony Hope, Conan Doyle, Edgar Jepson, Edwin Pugh and H. G. Wells. The chairman of the meeting, Douglas Freshfield, stated that a committee appointed to consider this question was of opinion that in order to protect the six-shilling novel it was essential that a time limit on which both publisher and public could rely should be fixed before which it would be impossible to get a cheap edition of a six-shilling book.

SUBSTANTIAL MANUFACTURE OF BOOKS HINDER THEIR SALE.

"WHEN publishers and authors try to explain why their books do not sell, their speculations," as the New York Tribune points out, "once carried outside the books themselves, range far and wide. The recent unsatisfactory season in London, for example, was accounted for in some curious ways. The habit of dining in restaurants and going to the music halls was among the novel 'causes' cited. Sidney Low maintains in the London Outlook that the trouble lies in the indestructible form given to the modern book, irrespective of its contents. There are, to begin with, altogether too many books, so that, as Mr. Low remarks, the man who would endeavor to read a small fraction of the year's publications would have no time to eat or sleep. But suppose he at least made an effort? Where could he find room for all those stoutly bound volumes? For the cloth-bound book is not by any means easily to be put out of existence. Says Mr. Low:

"You cannot tear it to pieces and throw it in the waste paper basket or dustbin, or dump it out of a railway carriage window, as you would a paper-covered French or German work. Even to leave it about casually on the chance that it will disappear is hopeless. It is far too respectable in its aspect for that; somebody is sure to pick it up and bring it back to you, possibly with the expectation of a reward, as being a valuable piece of property that you would not willingly lose.

"The solution of the problem, therefore, in Mr. Low's opinion, is to fall back upon paper covers and low prices. Also, of course, these expedients should be adopted in the publication not of novels alone, but of many books which, if nominally of more serious interest, are nevertheless but of transient value."

PRIZES FOR BEST CRITICISM OF "THE CLIMBER."

WITH the idea of testing the subject of adequate criticism by intelligent readers, Doubleday, Page & Co. offer the following prizes for the best reviews of E. F. Benson's new novel, "The Climber." They have selected this book because they think it offers unusual opportunities for a reviewer's skill, being set in a large canvas, and written by a man of experience and reputation, and having a strong moral purpose. These rules must be followed:

1. Copy to be written only on one side of the sheet, typewritten preferable.
2. The Review to be not more than 1000 words. 750 would be better.
3. The manuscript to be submitted not later than June 15.
4. The prizes to be awarded and announced in the August numbers of Doubleday, Page & Company's magazines, Country Life in America, The World's Work, and The Garden Magazine, the successful reviews to be printed at that time.

The first prize is $50. The second price is $30. The third prize is $20. The fourth prize, books from their book catalogue to the amount of $7.50. The fifth prize, books to the amount of $5. The sixth prize, a subscription to Country Life in America. The seventh prize, a subscription to the World's Work.

SALE OF POOR LIBRARY—PART V.

AFTER spirited bidding by well-known book lovers a manuscript, written by Nicholas Jarry on 336 pages of pure vellum for Anne of Austria, (Queen of Louis XIII.) was sold on April 5 to George D. Smith for $3350. This was the highest price at the first session of the sale of Part v. of the Henry W. Poor library at the Anderson Auction Company's rooms.

The same buyer paid $450 for Goldsmith's "Vicar of Wakefield" in two volumes—a first edition, printed in London in 1766. He also paid $425 for "Ferdinand and Isabella of Spain," one of the earliest documents on America, referring to the Indians, dated Madrid, 1495.

Dodd, Mead & Co. paid $1100 for the works—songs and music—of Jean Benjamin de la Borde in four volumes, bound by Chambole Duru. It contains the rare portrait of La Borde called "a la lyre," engraved by Masquetier after Denon. It is regarded as one of the prettiest works of the eighteenth century. The same firm paid $950 for "Les Amours Pastorales de Daphnis et Chloë"—a specimen of Monnier's binding. The third highest price, $1000, was paid by J. F. Drake for "Horae Beatae Mariae Virginis," a manuscript of the middle of the fifteenth century, of French execution. It consists of 135 leaves beautifully ornamented. It came from the library of Ambrose Firmin Didot.

What is said to be the most complete collection ever offered for sale in America of the Hakluyt Society's publications—152 volumes—containing the observations of Sir Richard Hawkins in his voyage in the South Seas in the year 1593, brought the top price in the second day's sale. F. W. Morris was the buyer, and he paid $742.50 for the set.

George D. Smith paid $150 for a Grolier Club copy by John Milton of "Areopagitica," and for a Grolier Club copy of "The Poems of John Donne," from the text of the edition of 1633, revised by James Russell Lowell, he paid $130. He also obtained, for $130, Hawthorne's copy of the New England Primer, and for twenty-three volumes of John Henage Jesse's works he paid the same price. George Meredith's Poems, first issue, London, 1851, brought $98, and John Milton's "Paradise Lost," the first edition, with the seventh title-page "London, 1669," $92.50.

During the third day's sale George D. Smith bought the John Addington Symonds volumes, paying for the first two lots $21 and $15 respectively and for the last lot of fifty-four volumes $210. A Tennyson first edition sold for $50, and another Tennyson volume, "The Promise of May," (privately printed,) for $75. Thackeray's "Four Georges," first issue of the first edition, sold at $56; George Washington's letters to Tobias Lear, at $47; Schaff's "Spirit of Old West Point," for $50; Whitman's "Leaves of Grass" in the original edition at $65, (going to Chicago;) Wilde's "Ballad of Reading Gaol," first edition, at $7.50; his "Priest and the Acolyte," at $9; "The Trial of Oscar Wilde," from shorthand reports, at $8.25; "A Prince's Looking Glasse," at $75; "Wither's Motto," $36, and the Wither "Fragmenta Prophetica," at $35.

The total realized was $127,500. The sixth and last part will be sold in May.

COMMUNICATIONS.

WHY THE PUBLISHER COMPETES WITH THE RETAILER.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: I have taken a good deal of interest in the discussion going on in the WEEKLY regarding publishers entering the retail field. The retailer protests loudly, but is he not himself to blame for this condition? In my opinion he is, in about seven cases out of ten. This opinion is formed not from five years' experience as a publisher, although that experience confirms it, but from twenty years' observation as a customer, in several cities.

In the first place, who are the clerks in the retail store? Are not the majority young men who have come up from the office boy stage, through the various steps, to that of salesmen. What do they know about the inside of the books? The quality of the paper, perhaps, and whether a book is a good seller seems to be the limit of many salesmen's knowledge. But this is not the salesman's fault alone. Who has tried to make him different from what he is? His employer? But his employer is sitting in his little box of an office, in his shirt sleeves, smoking, racking his brains how to make both ends meet—he has no time to train his employees.

If you go into the average bookstore what do you see? Are there not six or ten men standing about, some with their hands in their pockets, some manicuring their nails, some gossiping, and only one or two of the older men giving the least impression that they are hired to take any initiative in selling books; the customer asks for what he wants; if we haven't it, we will send and get it; what more can we do, they might ask. But they could do more if they were other men.

Is it a rash conjecture that aside from the holiday season most bookstores could get on with half their present force, and so employ a more interested class of men at a better wage? The present men might be more interested if they would. Do they read the trade journals and the reviews in the best papers of the city? Does the employer make it possible for them to do this, and in general give them the benefit of his experience? It is open to question.

There was a publisher once that tried to do something in the way of educating clerks regarding the publications of his firm. It was an admirable plan worth copying by all publishers, though in this case it was not very profitable, for the publisher would turn round and undersell at retail his wholesale rate. But the point is this, books can be sold by educated, interested clerks. How they get their book knowledge does not matter so much as that they get it. Till the day comes when a dealer will work to make a market instead of lying down to wait while the publisher does it for him, the publisher will and should sell his own books directly to customers.

Yours very truly,

MARY BARROWS,

Whitcomb & Barrows.

OBITUARY NOTES.

JOHN E. LINDE, president of the J. E. Linde Paper Company, of No. 84 Beekman Street, New York City, well known in the trade throughout the country, died of ptomaine poisoning on March 4 in his home in Hoboken, N. J. Mr. Linde was born in Germany fifty-four years ago, but was brought to this country in early childhood, and spent the greater part of his life in Hoboken. He established his business twenty-seven years ago and flourished continuously, becoming president of the New York Paper Association. He was also deeply interested in the work of American artists, and was chairman of a committee in charge of an exhibition of oil paintings, held last month in the Hoboken Public Library.

GEORGE THORNDIKE ANGELL, founder of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, died in Boston, March 16. He was born in Southbridge, Mass., June 5, 1823, and was admitted to the bar in 1851. Seventeen years later he devoted his entire time and energy to the cause of prevention of cruelty to animals and to the prevention of crime, the sale of adulterated food, etc. As founder and editor of Our Dumb Animals, and as instrumental in procuring the successful publication of "Black Beauty," which had met with flat failure until he took it in hand and secured for it a circulation of nearly a million copies, Mr. Angell has rendered noteworthy service to popular literature as well as to the cause of kindness to animals and humankind.

ISAAC HENDERSON, who died in Rome, Italy, on March 31, was a son of Isaac Henderson, a former publisher of the Evening Post. He was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1850, and was graduated from Williams College. Immediately after leaving college, Mr. Henderson was made assistant publisher of the New York Evening Post, under his father; he also did some writing, chiefly musical criticism. When the newspaper changed owners he retired and went abroad, in 1888. In the next few years he wrote several books and plays. One of his novels, "The Prelate," had considerable success, and a play, "Agatha," was produced by Charles Wyndham in London in May, 1892, and repeated there and in New York under the title "The Silent Battle." Another of his plays was "The Mummy and the Humming-Bird."

HERMANN JULIUS MEYER, the chief of the Bibliographische Institut, the publishers of Meyer's "Konversations-Lexicon," Brehm's "Thiërleben," and other valuable reference works, died in Leipzig, March 12. Mr. Meyer was born on April 4, 1826, in Gotha. After graduating from the college at Hildburghausen he entered the business of his father, Josef Meyer. In 1849, owing to his affiliation with the Revolutionists, Meyer was obliged to seek refuge in this country, where he established a branch of the Bibliographic Institute in New York City. In 1884 he retired from the publishing business to devote himself to the practical solution of social problems. His principal work in this direction was the erection in Leipzig of 165 houses with 1484 apartments for 6000 persons, with three large crèches, two extensive bathing establishments, libraries, etc.

BERTHE EUGENIE MARIE JULIENNE LOW, the wife of Will H. Low, the decorative painter, died April 7 after a brief illness in her home in Lawrence Park, Bronxville, N. Y. Mrs. Low was born at Caen, France, June 7, 1853, and was educated in the Convent of St. Sauveur in that city. She was married to Mr. Low in 1875, while the artist was studying under Gérôme and Carolus Duran in Paris. Mrs. Low was known in this country and in France as a writer on household subjects and domestic economics. One of her best-known books was "French Cooking Adapted to American Households." She was a frequent contributor to French periodicals and journals as well as to magazines in this country. Immediately after her marriage to Mr. Low they met Robert Louis Stevenson, and the three spent much time together. In 1888 Mrs. Low translated "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" into French, and it was her ambition to translate all of Stevenson's works into her native language.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

ARTHUR KINGSLEY PORTER, author of "Medieval Architecture," has been named a corresponding member of the Société Française d'Archeologie, a notable honor for an American.

THE RIGHT REV. MGR. THOMAS P. PUGILATTI, Patriarchal Canon of Jerusalem, has presented to Dr. John G. Coyle, of New York City, the Papal parchment elevating Dr. Coyle to knighthood and creating him Knight

Commander of the Holy Sepulchre. This honor was conferred upon Dr. Coyle for his services in the cause of Catholic progress and for the advancement of Catholic societies. The order dates from the twelfth century, and elevation to it carries the title of Count of the Palace of Lateran. Dr. Coyle, who has entertained the Booksellers' League on several occasions, is well known as a lecturer on historical and Catholic subjects, and has contributed many articles to magazines and newspapers.

THE Keats-Shelley Memorial House, which is situated in the Piazzini di Spagna, in Rome, the house in which Keats died, was inaugurated on April 3 and opened to the public. King Victor Emmanuel, the Ambassador, Lloyd C. Griscom, and the British Ambassador, Sir J. Rennell Rodd, were among those who officiated at the ceremonies. Among others present were Arthur Severn, son of Keats's friend; Joseph Severn, the English portrait painter, who was devoted to the poet; the Rev. E. S. Dail, a relative of Shelley's; Mrs. Edward A. MacDowell, widow of the American composer, whose music was inspired by Keats; Mrs. Stone Benedict, of Cooperstown, a descendant of J. Fenimore Cooper; Rudyard Kipling and John W. Garrett, secretary of the American Embassy. The purchase of the house was effected two years ago by a committee composed largely of Americans, and with which the late Edmund Clarence Stedman and Robert U. Johnson were associated. The family of George Keats, the brother of the poet, who lived in Louisville, Ky., have united in presenting the Severn miniature of George Keats to the Memorial House. Moses Ezekiel, sculptor, formerly of Virginia, presented busts of Keats and Shelley and a first edition of "The Revolt of Islam." The house now contains original portraits of Keats, his two brothers and his sister, as well as photographs of original manuscripts and rare editions.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

ELLIOT STOCK, 62 Paternoster Row, London, Eng., will publish at once an "Index to the Second Ten Volumes of Book Prices Current, 1897 to 1906." This volume forms a useful key to the contents of the volumes included within their period, and, incidentally, to the anonymous, pseudonymous and suppressed literature recorded. Some idea of the magnitude of the work involved in indexing these volumes may be formed by the fact that it contains upwards of a thousand closely-packed columns, embodying some 100,000 distinct entries. Practically every author and edition of importance up to 1906 is represented, the method of arrangement being the clearest and most condensed which could be conceived. The following new features of the work may be noted as showing improvements in the second volume. A very great increase in the total number of anonymous and pseudonymous names, to hundreds of which entries are attached the real names of the authors. The names of editors, collaborators, composers, translators and chief artists are invariably indexed. To every entry, except in comparatively few cases where the year cannot be ascertained, the date of publication is appended. In numerous cases where the illustrations impart a special market value, the artist's name is indexed also; for example, Cruikshankiana comprises a highly useful sub-alphabet. An exceptionally long and valuable sub-alphabet of books on Americana is given, which forms almost a bibliography in itself. In addition, several minor but useful features are introduced to aid the searcher and increase the value of the "General Index," whether considered in relation to the present work or as an independent work of literary reference. There is also a Supplement of Bibliophiles and Bibliopoles, by William Jaggard. (xx+1053 p. 8°, cl., £2 2s. net.)

PERSONAL NOTES.

ADOLPH L. SCHMALZRIED, buyer of books and stationery for Miller & Rhoads at Richmond, Va., will resign his position on May 1. He is planning to open up a stationery, news and photographic business in Oklahoma—the location to be announced later.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The Forum for April contains a careful analysis of the work of Mrs. Humphry Ward by William Lyon Phelps.

The Dial of April 1 contains an article entitled "A Memorial of Literary Friendship," by Annie Russell Marble, in which she gives an interesting review of Hall Caine's "My Story," which was virtually a sketch of Dante Gabriel Rossetti, with whom Caine was very intimate for years.

WITH the issue for April 3 Charities and The Commons has become The Survey, Social, Charitable, Civic. As one important object of this excellent magazine is to spread the news of social advance and to recruit workers in behalf of the common welfare, a change in the old name, which proved a stumbling block to new readers, was deemed wise. The publishing offices remain as before, at 105 East Twenty-second Street in New York, and at 158 Adams Street in Chicago.

BUSINESS NOTES.

AMHERST, MASS.—F. M. Curran and C. F. Dyer, who have been connected for a number of years with Bridgman and Lyman's Bookstore in Northampton, have purchased the Amherst Supply Store here and plan to run a well-ordered book and stationery store. The firm will do business under the name of The Amherst Bookstore.

DAYTON, O.—The book business of Alderman Bros., which has been in the hands of a receiver several months, has been purchased by Charles W. Bleser.

GREENSBORO, N. C.—E. S. Wills, bookseller, has been succeeded by the Wills Book & Stationery Company, incorporated.

HAZLETON, PA.—John Aubrey has sold his bookstore to his brother, John Aubrey.

NEW YORK CITY.—E. W. Johnson, dealer in old and new books, is removing from his old quarters at 2 East Forty-second Street to No. 39 West Forty-second Street. Mr. Johnson will have a lighter and more attractive store in his new quarters and will carry a better line of books.

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C.—The Abram Book Company has opened a new book and stationery store.

SALEM, O.—H. C. Hawley, bookseller for thirty-two years, has sold out to I. D. & J. H. Campbell.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.—Bessie Davis, bookseller, has sold out to G. O. Leach.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.—Charley Rubin has opened a new book and stationery store at 19 Fourth Street.

SAN JOSE, CAL.—The V. S. Hills Company has been incorporated to do a book and stationery business.

SCRANTON, PA.—Miss A. J. Wilcox has removed The Book Shop to more commodious and brighter quarters at 610 Linden Street, in the Carter Building.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE CENTURY COMPANY will publish early in May, "The Box Book: How to make 100 useful articles for the home," by Louise Brigham. The book will be adequately illustrated.

HENRY SOTHERAN & Co., London, have purchased the remainder of Dr. George C. Williamson's "History of Portrait Miniatures," in two volumes, which they are offering at half the original price.

C. M. CLARK PUBLISHING Co. have just issued "The Voyage of the Wenonah," a sea story by Augustine Langford; "Uncle Sim," by Fred Perrine Lake, the story of a country village; "The Tragedy of the Deserted Isle," by Warren Wood, an American historical novel; and "The Door Where the Wrong Lay," by Mary E. Greene.

THE FLEMING H. REVELL Co. announce for immediate publication, "Oh! Christina!" a new Scottish story by J. J. Bell, author of "Wee Macgregor." The heroine of the new book is a sort of female Wee Macgregor, who leaves the slums to visit an aunt noted for her highly-developed sense of propriety. Interesting situations follow, some of which greatly shock the finicky aunt, while the heroine is kept almost continually in "hot water."

THE YALE UNIVERSITY PRESS will publish shortly "Morals in Business," a collection of six papers by Edward D. Page, George W. Alger, Henry Holt, A. Barton Hepburn, Edward W. Bemis and James McKeen. The contents were first prepared to be read before the Sheffield Scientific School at Yale University, and the introduction by Ripley Hitchcock explains "their object is to afford some practical and candid inquiry into the conduct of modern business on what may be termed the moral side."

THE BAKER & TAYLOR COMPANY have just brought out a second edition of that remarkable book "Banzai," which in some respects is closely paralleled by Du Maurier's play, "An Englishman's Home." Apropos of the story that "Parabellum," the author of "Banzai" is a member of the Kaiser's entourage, it is officially denied, on the authority of the Emperor, that this is so. An official denial of this kind is not necessarily convincing. It would seem that, knowing who it was not, they must have some idea who it is.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have just issued the fourth volume in their French Men of Letters series, a book on "St. Beuve" by Professor George McLean Harper, of Princeton University, whose "Masters of French Literature" was so well received; "The Third French Republic," by Frederick Lawton, an anecdotal narration of the history of the French nation from the end of May, 1871, to 1908, profusely illustrated with full-page pictures; and "The Force of the Wind," a timely volume on aerial navigation by Herbert Chatley, author of "The Problem of Flight."

AN honest confession may be good both for the public and the publisher. Doubleday, Page & Company announce that they are sorry they made use of so small a type in their first edition of E. F. Benson's brilliant novel, "The Climber," published last month. The plates of the first edition have just been destroyed, and the book is being printed again. In the new edition a large, clear type, like that in the Large Print Library, is being used. So, in addition to doing the right thing by a good book, the publishers feel that they have made another contribution to save the failing eyesight of the nation.

THE FOREST PRESS, 22 West 33d Street, New York City, is giving an exhibition of Japanese prints, consisting of selections from the collection of Bolton Coit Brown, which has been turned over to this firm for private sale. The collection, which will continue until April 24, is one of the best in the country, having been formed with the greatest care, and while Mr. Brown has bought from the standpoint of beauty alone, rather than for rarity, or for archaeological or historical reasons, there is an abundant assortment of prints by the famous masters, and the quantity of decorative prints of the highest quality is probably not equalled by any other collection in America.

FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY have just ready a work entitled "Self-Control and How to Secure It," an English translation of "L'Education de Soi-Même," by the famous neurologist, Professor Paul Dubois, of the University of Berne. Professor Dubois's first book, "The Psychic Treatment of Nervous Disorders," has been very widely read by the medical profession, as well as by the lay public, in this country; and he is generally recognized as one of the most successful writers and practitioners of mental therapeutics. In the present volume he provides a philosophical and charmingly direct discussion as to what self-control may accomplish, and shows how it may be secured.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. will publish shortly, "The Military Memoirs of General Kuropatkin," translated by Captain A. B. Lindsay, and edited by Major E. S. Swinton. This book, which was suppressed by the Russian Government immediately after its publication in that country, was published in part in McClure's. General Kuropatkin, who as head of the Russian War Department and commander-in-chief of the Russian forces in the war against Japan, frankly discusses the policy that led up to the war, as well as certain phases of the conflict itself. They will also publish "The Sword of the Lord," a romance of the time of Martin Luther, by Joseph Hocking, author of "The Woman of Babylon," "A Flame of Fire," etc.

JOHN LANE COMPANY issue this week "William Shakespeare: Player, Playmaker and Poet" and "In Re Shakespeare, Beeching vs. Greenwood, a Rejoinder on Behalf of the Defendant." George Greenwood's "Shakespeare Problem Restated" has called forth an answer from Dr. H. C. Beeching, Canon of Westminster, which in turn has been answered by Mr. Greenwood; and these answers are contained in the books of which the titles are given above. Also just ready are "El Greco," the history of the sixteenth century Spanish painter by A. F. Calvert and G. Hartley; T. A. Daly's volume of poems, entitled "Carmina," already on the press for the second time; and "The Measure of Our Youth," a novel of modern life by Alice Herbert.

B. W. HUEBSCH has in press in The Art of Life Series, edited by Edward Howard Griggs, a volume by Simon Nelson Patten, entitled "Product and Climax." The author, in this volume, expands some of his economic theories propounded in "The New Basis of Civilization" which was so successful about two years ago. He contrasts the life and conditions of those who toil, with the results in pleasure and happiness. He studies living conditions and is fertile of suggestion for real enjoyment for the people. An interesting passage is his defence of the nickel theatre. He thinks that there is great good in this mode of enjoyment, as it stimulates the imagination and offers the worker an alternative to the lure of the saloon which, in some places, already suffers from the encroachment of the new and popular form of amusement. The author is ex-president of the American Economic Association and professor at the University of Pennsylvania. Whatever he says is worthy of attention, but this book in particular, carrying so much in a small space, and written quite popularly, should be successful.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have just issued "The Earth's Bounty," by Mrs. Kate V. St. Maur, in a measure a continuation of her "A Self-Supporting Home." The twelve acres of land rented in that story in three years became more than self-supporting, and Mrs. St. Maur now describes "the glorious invigoration of the industrious outdoor life on a farm where each day reveals some new interest." Almost ready are "Sebastian," by Frank Danby, and literary and commercial and mother love are the great themes of this tale of modern London; "Peace and Happiness in Healing," by Lord Avebury, who speaking from a full experience of men and books, analyzes life with quiet, penetrating wisdom; "Misery and Its Causes," by Dr. Edward T. Devine, the new volume in the American Social Progress series, which gives a scholarly analysis of social life by the editor of Charities, based on the study of 5000 cases; "A Manual of School Music in Elementary Grades," by Frank R. Rix; "A Valid Christianity for To-day," by the Rt. Rev. Charles Williams, Bishop of Michigan; "The Agricola" of Tacitus, edited by Professor Duane Reed Stuart, of Princeton University; and Irving's "Knickerbocker History of New York," in the Pocket Classics Series.

BOOKTRADE ASSOCIATIONS.

COMPLIMENTARY DINNER TO C. T. DILLINGHAM AT THE BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE.

THE BOOKSELLERS LEAGUE, on the evening of April 21, at the Aldine Association, 111 Fifth Avenue, New York, will give a dinner in honor of Charles T. Dillingham, who is rounding out his fiftieth anniversary as a bookseller. This is a well-deserved attention, Mr. Dillingham having served the trade so well in so many directions, as president of the Booksellers' and Stationers' Provident Association during its entire existence; as president for a number of years of the Stationers' Board of Trade, and as an officer or member of the various organizations whose aim it was to promote the best interests of the book and stationery trades, that came into existence for the past thirty or forty years. It is hoped that his friends in the trade will turn out in full force to join the Booksellers' League in making this a red letter day in the business life of Mr. Dillingham.

AMERICAN BOOKSELLERS' ASSOCIATION DINNER IN MAY.

THE Entertainment Committee of the American Booksellers' Association have been successful in securing as speakers at the dinner to be given at the Hotel Astor, New York City, on the evening of May 12, Franklin Matthews, of the editorial staff of the New York Sun, who made the trip around the world with the Battle Fleet, and who was one of the principal speakers at the banquets given in the various countries in which the fleet was feted; also Wallace Irwin, the author of "Letters of a Japanese Schoolboy," recently published by Doubleday, Page & Co. Mr. Matthews's book, "With the Battle Fleet," published by B. W. Huebsch about three months ago, has been very popular and is still in great demand. Both are capital speakers, and will contribute much to the success of the dinner.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers, under their own names, are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print of five nonpareil lines, exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, or those advertising anonymously, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line. All objectionable books will be excluded so far as they come under our notice.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No reduction for repeated matter.

All other small undisplayed advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no account must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their Communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash.]

Write your wants plainly, and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay" book-sellers should take the usual precautions, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

ISSUED FROM

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY OFFICE

The Publishers' Weekly

Recognized as the representative of the publishing and bookselling interests in the United States. Contains full weekly record of American publications, with monthly indexes, cumulated quarterly, news of interest concerning the book trade, lists of "Books Wanted," (an advertising feature which each subscriber can use without charge to the extent of 100 lines per year,) etc., etc. Subscription, $4.00 a year; to foreign countries, $5.00 a year.

The Annual American Catalog, 1908

In two parts: A short-title index to all the book publications of the year and a full-title index, with brief annotation of the leading books of 1908. (Ready March, 1909.) 8vo, cloth, $3.00.

The American Catalog, 1905-1907

Vol. I containing in one alphabet an index to all books published during 1905-06-07; under author, title, subject and series entries. 8vo, half morocco, $7.50.

Vol. II containing the full-title Weekly Record material of The Publishers' Weekly for the same years, in a separate alphabet for each year. 8vo, half morocco, $6.00.

The American Catalog, 1900-1905

Vol. I contains a five-year cumulation, Jan. 1, 1900-Jan. 1, 1905, giving in one alphabet, by author, title and subject, information of the books issued during the years covered by this period. It also contains a directory of over 3800 publishers, with street addresses. 8vo, half morocco, $7.50.

Vol. II or Supplementary volume gives the full-title entries with annotations printed in the Weekly Record of The Publishers' Weekly, cumulated into an alphabet for each year, i.e., into five alphabets 1900, 01, 02, 03, 04. This is planned to answer the demand of such libraries, bookdealers, and others as want the full material of The Publishers' Weekly bibliographical system in available shape. 8vo, half morocco, $7.50. The set of two, $15.

Of the previous series of THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE, quarto size, the earlier volumes are out of print. We have remaining a few copies of the volumes 1890-95 and 1895-1900, bound in half morocco, $15.00 each.

The Publishers' Trade List Annual

Contains the latest catalogues of upward of 200 American publishers, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the firm-names, with smaller lists, fully indexed, at the end of the volume, indispensable to every one who has any interest in the sale or purchase of books. Large 8vo, cloth, $2.00.

Index to the Publishers' Trade List Annual, 1902, out of print.

The Supplementary Index, 1903-1904, 500 pages, 8vo, cloth, with thumb index, $3.00. The alphabet in this volume is supplementary to the original Index of 1902.

The Library Journal

Chiefly devoted to library economy and bibliography. Established in 1876. Published monthly. Subscription $4.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 35 cents. Price to Europe or other countries in the Union, 16s. a year; single numbers, 1s. 6d.

The Annual Library Index

Including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book-Chapters, etc., Bibliographies, Necrology, Index to Dates of Principal Events, and a Directory of Libraries. Edited, with the co-operation of members of the American Library Association and of The Library Journal staff, by W. I. FLETCHER. (Published annually.) The volume covering 1908, $5.00; all prior volumes, $3.50 each.

The American Educational List

Contains a price-list of the text-books in use in the United States, arranged alphabetically by author's or editor's name, and a detailed subject-index, referring from each specific subject to authors of books on that subject. (Published annually.) 8vo, leatherette, 50 cents.

English Catalogue of Books (Annual)

Containing a complete list of all the books published in Great Britain and Ireland in the calendar year, with index to subjects. 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

Directory of Publishers

Contains names and addresses of 3789 firms and individuals who issued books in the U. S. from Jan. 1, 1905, to Dec. 31, 1907. (Reprinted from The American Catalog.) 8vo, leatherette, red edges, $1.00.

The Profession of Bookselling

A handbook of practical hints for the apprentice and bookseller. By A. GROWOLL, managing editor of The Publishers' Weekly, author of "A Bookseller's Library," "Three Centuries of English-Booktrade Bibliography," etc. Parts 1 and 2. 8vo, boards, each $2.00. (Concluding part in preparation.)

Publications of Societies

A provisional list of the publications of American scientific, literary and other societies, from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Schedules nearly 1000 societies issuing publications, and gives title-entries of all their publications, as far as data could be obtained from the societies and from libraries. 8vo, paper, $2.50.

State Publications

A provisional list of the official publications of the several States of the United States from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Part 1: New England States. Part 2: North Central States. Part 3: Western States and Territories. Part 4: Southern States. The four parts bound in one vol., half morocco, $12.00; the four parts, each in paper cover, $10.00 for the set. (Not sold separately.)
